LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pulaski Circuit Judge William J. Kirby today increased the fines and jail sentences a lower court had imposed on six Negro sit-in demonstrators.

Two other Negroes who had appealed similar fines and sentences got Kirby's approval for a jury trial June 17.

All eight Negroes, students at Little Rock's Philander Smith College, had been sentenced to $250 fines and 30-day jail terms under Act 226 of 1959, which forbids a breach of the public peace.

They had appealed to Circuit Court from the sentences by Municipal Judge Quinn Glover.

Kirby doubled the sentences in the case of five defendants. The sixth got the maximum sentence under the act, a $500 fine and six months in jail.

Maximum punishment was imposed on Melvin T. Jackson, 20, because testimony showed he refused to leave a lunch room at Pfeifers department store until placed under arrest.

Involved were two sit-in demonstrators. The one at Pfeifers and another at the Blass department store. Both occurred April 13.

Six of the Negroes, including Jackson, had waived jury trial. Two others—Thomas B. Jefferson and Frank James Looper, both 20—also had been charged with violating Act 14, which says a person must leave a business place when requested, and their non-jury trials had been scheduled immediately after that of the other six.

But after Kirby, handed down his ruling on the first six, defense attorneys Harold Anderson of Little Rock and Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff moved for a jury trial for Looper and Robinson.

Kirby said the motion was unusually late, but granted it.

He also granted permission to file a motion for a new trial for the other six, a preliminary to an appeal to the Arkansas Supreme Court. Bond was set at $1,000.

In boosting the punishment, Kirby said he was trying to discourage such incidents as sit-in protests.

The defense did not present any witnesses. State witnesses included police officers.

After the state's case ended, Branton tried unsuccessfully for a directed verdict of "innocent."

Shortly after the appeal trial began this morning, defense attorneys lost in two bids for dismissal of charges.

Anderson and Branton contended the Arkansas laws involved in the case violated the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Appeals of eight Negro students convicted of charges growing out of lunch counter demonstrations April 13 will be heard today in Pulaski Circuit Court.

Judge William J. Kirby will hear the cases without a jury. The eight were fined $250 and sentenced to 30 days in jail by Municipal Judge Quinn Glover on charges filed under a 1959 breach of peace law. Two of the students were given additional $150 fines and 30-day terms on a second charge of refusing to leave a business place when asked.

Constitutionality of the 1959 statute is being challenged in appeals by five Negro students convicted earlier as a result of a March 10 demonstration in protest of lunch counter segregation.

On appeal, Kirby doubled the sentences given those five students to the maximum of $500 fines and 60 days in jail. They are appealing to the state Supreme Court.

All 13 Negroes are students at Philander Smith College.

Soviet Threat Only Plan to Keep Secrets

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's threat to attack any foreign airfield used by a plane flying over her territory was seen here today as part of a determined effort to keep secret her relocation of missile bases.

American analysts of Soviet affairs said that is the significance of a speech Monday by Marshal Rodion Malinovsky at a Kremlin meeting of Communist workers.

It follows similar warnings by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev against permitting use of the bases by spy planes.

Malinovsky said he has ordered rocket strikes at the base from which any plane takes off and violates air space of the Soviet Union or its Communist partners.

"We do not know what the intruder plane may carry," he said in explaining the order. "It may well be a hydrogen bomb."

The State Department had no immediate official comment.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) said "It seems that the war party has come back into power" in the Soviet Union. He contended that if the order is followed to the letter, even an accidental violation of Soviet air space could set off a nuclear war.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) also said Malinovsky's speech may have grave implications, commenting "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

Some State Department experts agreed, but they assessed the speech largely as an unusually blunt warning designed to scare allies who permit U. S. use of airfields in their countries.

The Soviet Union long has sought to force abandonment of U. S. military bases surrounding her borders, and has stepped up the campaign since the downing of a U2 spy plane in the Soviet Union May 1.

Ike Declares SEATO Helps Prevent War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter today pledged full U. S. support for the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in its quest for peace and stability in the Far East.

In remarks prepared for the opening of the SEATO Council of Ministers he said existence of the eight-nation defense alliance has given a greater sense of security to the area southwest of Communist China.

"The United States is determined to continue to carry out its responsibilities in concert with the other members," Herter said.

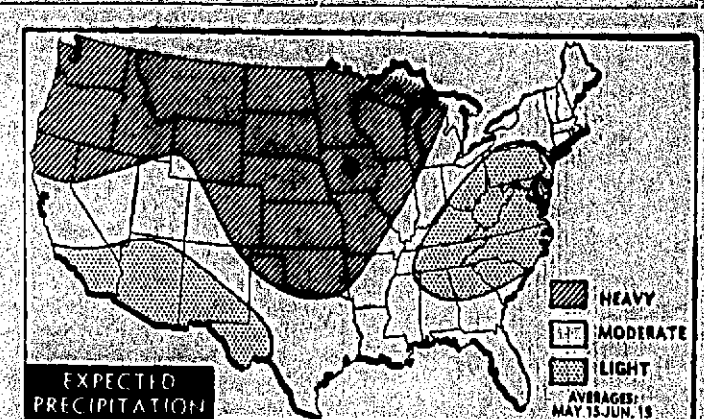

The ceremonial opening was in two respects only a prelude to a two-hour luncheon meeting of the SEATO ministers with President Eisenhower. The White House said underscored the importance the United States attaches to the council which brings together the prime ministers of Australia and New Zealand and the foreign ministers of Britain, France, the Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand, with Herter as chairman.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon drew the assignment to welcome the ministers formally on behalf of the United States.

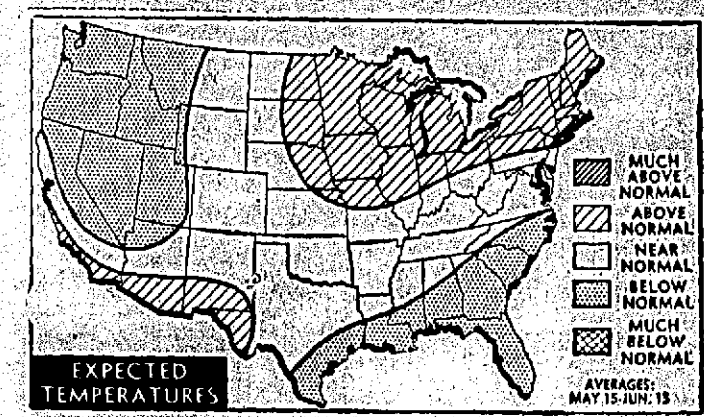

Britain's Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd said one of the achievements of SEATO is the fact that there has been no major act of aggression in the area since the defense alliance was formed.

Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France and Prime Minister Walter Nash of New Zealand both called attention to the failure of the Paris summit conference and the impact this has on all parts of the world, including Asia.

"We know... from experience how interdependent are the several parts of the world, how rapidly a crisis or an easing of tension may become universal."

Moderate to heavy precipitation will be the lot for most of the nation from now until mid-June, with but two exceptions.

Vast area of near-normal temperatures will quarter the nation from now until mid-June. In East and Southwest, it'll be hot.

The number of subjects offered will be determined by the number registering for each subject in grades 7 through 12.

Reward to Be Studied By Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Chamber of Commerce executive committee meets today to discuss the application of four persons for a $25,000 reward in connection with three integration-related bombings last Labor Day.

Chamber President William F. Reeder said yesterday the committee would want to interview the applicants later.

The Chamber underwrote the reward fund for solution of the bombings, which damaged the Little Rock School Board offices, private offices of Mayor Werner Knoop and a station wagon of Fire Chief Gannalley.

An attorney for the applicants, Gordon H. Sullivan, said last night he was "ready to prove in court" that their identification of a car and a running man at the board offices led to the arrest of five men in connection with the bombings.

One pleaded guilty and is serving a prison term, three have been convicted but are appealing and one has not been tried yet.

Trial testimony by three of the reward applicants indicated that they were parked near the offices when they saw a man run from the school board building to a car. The explosion followed minutes later.

Negro Preacher Held for Hit-Run

MEMPHIS (AP) — A 43-year-old Negro preacher has been arrested by Memphis police in connection with the hit-run death of an 8-year-old Crittendon County, Ark., boy May 22.

Police Capt. E. C. Wilson said Rev Robert Kelley of Memphis admitted he was the driver of the auto which struck down Gerald Brannon in front of his home six miles west of Turrell.

Kelley told officers he stopped after he hit the boy. When he saw the child was dead, the minister said he panicked and sped off.

Kelley drove to Earle, Ark., and preached a sermon before returning to Memphis that night.

Police arrested him after he traded in his car here on a newer model. He will be charged with manslaughter.

Holiday Death Toll Nearing a Ghastly Record

Total 530

The count of traffic deaths during the three-day Memorial Day weekend reached a ghastly record today, threatening to match or exceed the record 371 fatalities reported during the three-day 1958 Memorial holiday.

Reports of deaths resulting from traffic crashes that occurred before midnight Monday still were trickling in.

Four women died in the collision of a Greyhound bus and a semi-trailer truck Monday night near Evanston, Wyo. At least 20 other passengers on the bus were injured.

One grim record already was set, this for all types of accidental deaths in the country during the 72-hour period. The old record for violent deaths attributed to the holiday observance was 504 in 1947. The categories listed were deaths in traffic, boating, by drowning and from miscellaneous causes.

The council had issued several bulletins daily during the weekend tabulating that started at 12 p. m. local time Friday and ended last midnight.

A final appeal Monday urged motorists "to exert extreme care and patience" on homeward bound drives.

Before the holiday got underway, the council had estimated 375 persons would die in traffic accidents this weekend.

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) foresees continued world conflict "for a quarter of a century or more or perhaps indefinitely."

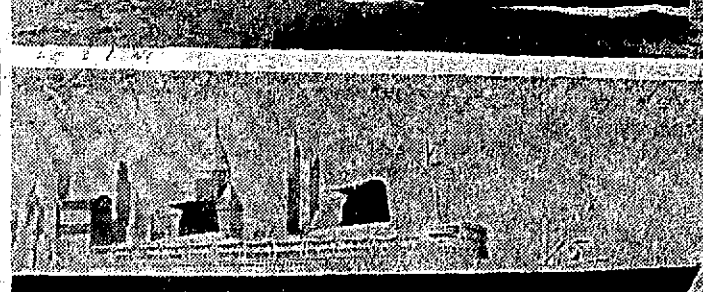

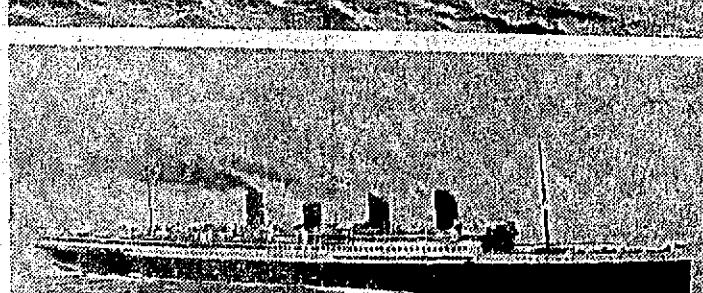

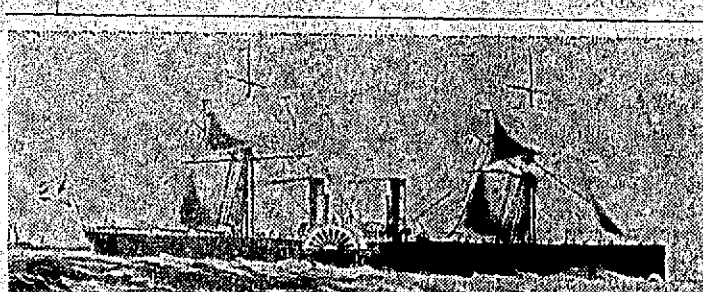

Speaking last night at the commencement of Southern State College here, McClellan said that in this "critical period of world history the nation is relying on its college graduates for victory in the struggle against atheistic Communism."

He told the 85 graduates he saw no prospects for early improvement in the world situation, but that today's college graduates would be faced with solving the present world problems.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a case potentially involving billions of dollars, the Supreme Court ruled today that rights of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama to fill the submerged Gulf of Mexico lands extend just three miles off their coast. It held that rights of Texas and Florida extend to three leagues, or about 10.45 miles.

The justices were so split in their opinions as to the individual states that the precise division in the historic decisions was not sharply defined.

The ruling was by a seven-man court. Chief Justice Warren and Justice Clark, disqualified themselves. Warren is a former governor of California, another state where there is a submerged lands issue. Clark headed the Justice Department as attorney general during earlier phases of litigation over the ownership of Gulf lands.

By its limiting of Louisiana's ownership of submerged lands to three geographical miles, the government is in a position to pick up immediately in the neighborhood of 300 million dollars and untold millions in the future.

The Interior Department has been leasing disputed lands off the Louisiana coast, and putting the money in escrow pending today's decision.

The money now tied up is in the neighborhood of 300 million. It came almost entirely from leases off Louisiana. Only leases off Louisiana so far have brought in substantial revenue.

If there is substantial mineral leasing off Texas and Florida, those states stand to pocket the money.

Justice Harlan wrote the court's main opinion on the case, a matter of long controversy involving millions of dollars.

Harlan, however, dissented as to the Florida decision.

Justice Black wrote the court's main decision in the Florida case. Justice Black also wrote a separate opinion in which he dissented in the cases of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. He favored giving them the same treatment as Texas and Florida.

Chief Justice Warren and Justice Clark disqualified themselves from the case.

Justice Douglas dissented as to Texas. He said, however, that Florida's claim was fully established by the standard that he would fix for Texas to meet in deciding the tidelands issue.

"If we are to relax the standard of proof for the benefit of Texas," Douglas said, "we should do so for all these claimants. In that posture, the claims of each of the other Gulf states are as clear as those of Texas."

Seven Die in Accidents in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

State Police at Little Rock reported today that Arkansas traffic accidents cost seven lives during the long Memorial Day weekend.

Capt. Jack Rhea of the State Police safety division said the toll was about twice that of Memorial Day weekends in the past three years.

"We had four killed in one of those years and three on each of the other two holiday weekends," Rhea said.

He said highway patrolmen were out in full force during the 1960 holiday period, which started Friday evening and ended last night.

Rhea mentioned that the state's highway death toll the previous weekend, which was a non holiday period, was even greater.

Ten persons were killed in traffic mishaps on that weekend.

Soviet Nobel Prize Winner Dies at 70

By Stanley Johnson

MOSCOW (AP)—Boris Pasternak, 70-year-old Nobel prize-winning author of "Doctor Zhivago," died Monday night.

Friends said the noted poet, novelist and translator died in his sleep at his villa in Peredelkino, a writer's colony 20 miles outside Moscow.

Suffering from a heart ailment, lung cancer and stomach bleeding since May 1, he had been in a coma most of the time for several days.

A storm of Soviet criticism broke over Pasternak after he was named winner of the Nobel Prize for literature in 1958. The award is given for the entire body of an author's work, but the timing made it apparent that he was being cited primarily for "Doctor Zhivago," a quiet but powerful indictment of Communist methods and a strong assertion of individual dignity and Christian humanism.

The book, written in 1948-53, was first printed by an Italian publisher. It rapidly became an international bestseller, but the Soviet regime has never permitted its publication in the Soviet Union.

When he first heard he had

Soviet officials looked on the prize as an affront to the Soviet government. The storm of disapproval extended from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev down through the ranks of Soviet writers.

Pasternak was drummed out of the Union of Soviet Writers as a betrayer of the Socialist cause who had written "in the interests of fanning the cold war." There were demands that he be exiled.

The quiet writer, who had shunned politics, was deeply grieved by the controversy. In a personal appeal to Khrushchev, he renounced the Nobel Prize and said he was "bound to Russia by birth, life and work." He said leaving his country would be "tantamount to death."

After the furor, Pasternak retreated into almost complete seclusion at his two-story home overlooking a rolling countryside.

Little Rock Nine Out of School Now

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The last two members of the "Little Rock Nine" were graduated quietly from the Central High School today.

They helped integrate in 1957. They marched with 413 white students to receive their diplomas.

The Negroes, Jefferson Thomas and Carlotta Walls, were the second and third members of their race to graduate from Central.

When they first attended the school in 1957, with seven other Negroes, federal troops ringed the building to prevent violence. The troops came after Gov. Orval Faubus had called out the National Guard to halt federal court-ordered integration.

This year, after an opening-day clash between police and segregationists, the school situation has been peaceful.

In June of 1958, when Ernest Green became the first Negro graduate of Central, soldiers and police guarded the proceedings fearfully.

About 25 plainclothes and uniformed policemen silently observed last night's ceremony.

Fifteen Negroes, mostly friends and relatives of the two graduates, were among the audience of about 2,500 persons.

Everett Tucker Jr., president of the high schools last fall after a year's lapse, called on graduates to make up for "deficits" of the adults.

Paulus closed the schools in 1958-59 to prevent continued integration at Central. They were reopened after a stormy school board recall election which resulted in ouster of three staunch segregationist members. They were replaced by members who prefer some integration to no public schools.

Tonight another Negro girl, Effie Jones, becomes the first of her race to graduate from Hall High School, which was not desegregated in 1957.

DOROTHY DIX Girl of Seventeen Dates Married Man

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I am 41. The first 20 years of my life were unhappy. My parents bicycled. I was third in a family of six—the eldest of three boys. When my parents split, I decided marriage wasn't for me. Four years ago a friend got me interested in church. The minister had something that made me want to go. I found real friendship and am now on the church board. I quit smoking but still like an occasional drink. I am a farmer, have machinery and cattle.

Mixing in the church, I suddenly find myself wishing for a wife and family. Lately I've been seeing one girl and reached the stage where I'll have to break or go all the way. She is only 25. Do you think the difference too great? We are of the same racial extraction, have about the same education and both live on farms. She has attended my church. I believe she is interested but I wouldn't hurt her for the world. I'm not a stay-at-home; attend whist drives, church socials and an occasional dance. Can you advise me? —Just Bill

Dear Just Bill: I can best answer you by saying that one of the happiest women I know has a husband 15 years older than she is. If you love the girl, go after her!

Dear Dorothy Dix:
I have been married nine months. My husband drank moderately but as time went on, more and more. To make ends meet, I went to work. I have to work on different shifts as I am a nurse. I found out my husband was bringing his women friends to the house when I was at work. One night when he wasn't home, Oliver C. Rosenbaum announced the arrival of a baby boy born on May 30, 1960.

by four a.m. I phoned the police. They located him in a hotel room with another woman.
Right now he is serving a two-months' term for impaired driving. I haven't gone to see him but he has asked me to take him back. My friends and his sister told me I should get a divorce instead. I am four months pregnant. My mother says, "Give him another chance for the child's sake. He will change if he has a child to come home to." I know he loves children but will it change him? —E.

Dear E: Is your husband making this grandstand plea just to get out of jail? Only you can answer that question. If he isn't, then give him another chance for your unborn child's sake but —guard against over-sentimentality.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
We are having a graduation Junior-Senior dance. Is it proper for a girl to ask a boy? If so, what should she do when his reply is, "I'll think about it. Better go ahead and ask somebody else"? Some of the girls and boys at our school want to go but are to shy to ask each other. Would it be proper to go stag? —A Steady Reader
Dear Steady Reader: The boy, not the girl, should do the asking. I'm not surprised that she got the brush off. It's equally out-of-character for a girl to go stag. But it would be entirely in order for your parents to invite some of your friends — boys and girls — to dinner before the dance. This would automatically give you a partner for the evening.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper.

that their submerged property be declared confined to a three-mile belt around the coastline.
But Texas, Louisiana, Florida, Mississippi and Alabama all insisted that Congress give states ownership of offshore land as far as their historic boundaries. They said they should be declared owners of submerged lands out as far as 10 to 20 miles.

Couve De Murville said in a prepared address.

Nash said repercussions of the summit collapse will be felt throughout the world and SEATO must be prepared to deal with them.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the SEATO defense pact has helped to prevent further Communist domination in Southeast Asia.

Eisenhower made the statement in a brief speech at a White House luncheon attended by delegates of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization conference which opened today.

"We can take much satisfaction," the President said, "in the fact that our first objective of preventing further Communist domination through aggression or subversion in the treaty area has been realized."

"However, we cannot afford to relax our vigilance or slacken our cooperative efforts to further the high principles of the Pacific theater," he said.

The SEATO treaty was signed in 1954.

Before the luncheon the SEATO conference heard Vice President Richard M. Nixon call for a conference of "firmness without belligerence" toward the Communists rather than a war of words he said might lead to nuclear war.

Nixon sounded the keynote theme in opening the conference of ministers of the eight-nation SEATO group.

Jewel Case Fished Out of River

LONDON (AP)—A jewel case was fished out of the Thames River today and police said it may belong to Sophia Loren, who reported being robbed of more than a half million dollars worth of gems.

A river bargeman found the black leather case with brass-bound handles. Inside was a small brooch with jewels forming the name "Sophia."

It was a black leather case that a thief—or a band of thieves stole from the Italian actress' bedroom Saturday night while she was away.

Grieving over the loss of her prized jewels, sad-eyed Miss Loren went to work this morning while Scotland Yard combed the underworld for clues in Britain's biggest jewel theft in years.

The jewels were only partially insured.

Pope Plans Ecumenical Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII announced today the start of definite preparations for the Roman Catholic Church's first ecumenical council in nearly 100 years.

One of its major aims will be unification of the world's Christians. Another is expected to be reaffirmation of the church's opposition to Marxist doctrines and communism.

Two years may be required to prepare for the assembly—the 21st—which will bring bishops, archbishops and other prelates here from all parts of the world.

The last ecumenical council of the Roman Catholic Church began in 1869 in Rome. It proclaimed the dogma of papal infallibility—the Roman Catholic belief that the Pope cannot err when dealing with his full authority on matters of faith or morals.

Pope John announced on Jan. 25, 1959 his plan to hold a new ecumenical council. A commission headed by Domenico Cardinal Tardini, Vatican secretary of state, was appointed and began preliminary work.

Chapter 14
THE STORY: Pru Lane has told Ry Buckner that her sister Dorcas Buckner's sweetheart five years ago, plans to marry Duke Jordan, who was responsible for Ry being sentenced to prison. At that moment Hatchet riders appear and pursue Pru and Buckner, who take refuge in a deserted ranch house.

This Brewster place had been a cow ranch once, a small spread started by an Iowa family who had gone broke during the hard winter six years ago. The house showed the impracticality of the owners, reflecting the town trend toward frame rather than log and having two stories. The porch was a midwestern affectation. The glass had long since gone from the windows, the doors from their hinges, taken for kindling by overnight occupants who had built their campfires in the yard, and cows had strayed in and out of the buildings. But the walls were sturdy, and the place some better than no fortress at all.

Pru stood with her back to a wall, breathing hard, made prettier by excitement and showing no panic. Buckner flung himself to the parlor floor and elbowed his way toward the big front window which looked to the ridge. He batted off his hat and raised himself to peer out, expecting to draw a shot, expecting to see the full force of Hatchet charging down the slope. They were bunched around Tull, and it was he who held a smoking sixshooter. Spence Rigby was doing the talking, leaning forward in his saddle and thrusting his jaw at Tull. Tull made reply, pointing down at the house and waving his gun. "The rumble of the voices reached below, but the words were a blur of sound carrying no meaning but the intimation of argument. Buckner began to understand. They had sighted him, even as he sighted Pru, and they had trailed him, but it had been Tull alone who had let his wrath run wild. Rigby was too careful for that. Rigby was trying now to persuade Tull from his anger. "Council of war," Buckner said.

"How did they dare shoot at us?" Pru demanded. "We're not Duke, wanted for murder. Have they gone crazy?"
"Only Tull," he said. "Rigby wants Duke, not me."
"They'll ride on," she said. "They'll not want to answer to the sheriff for this."
"McQueen doesn't stack very high in their eyes. Still, the law is the law. Rigby will be remembering that. I'm not so sure about Tull."

Hatchet, strung out in single file with Rigby up front, walked their horses along the ridge, headed toward the hills. All but Tull. He moved off the crest and came galloping down the slant, and as he came, he fired. Buckner heard the solid thump of the bullet in the siding of the house. It made challenge enough. He lifted himself, fired at Tull, and knew that he had missed. Tull, neckreining the horse, drove it in a zigzag fashion, veering hard to the left as he came, thundering into the yard. He passed from sight.

Buckner, scrambling across the floor on hands and knees, got to a window in the south wall. Here he had a view of what remained of Brewster's barn and the timber bleddown corral beside it. Tull was nowhere to be seen. Then the man appeared, long and gaunt, bursting from the barn doorway. Buckner sent a bullet at him. Out there in the yard stood a pump and platform beside a watering trough. He beat himself behind the trough and almost instantly raised to fire at the window where Buckner crouched. Then the man bobbed out of sight again.

"Sam!" Buckner shouted. "Call off this fool business!"
Tull's voice came, cold, dispassionate, deadly. "Last night you made me look down the barrel of a gun, Buckner. You had the edge then. But nobody does that to me and lives. Come out and fight."

"Pru Lane's here," Buckner called back. "You know that. What about her?"
"She doesn't figure one way or the other. This is between us, Buckner."

From that far wall, Pru said, "He's lying, Ry. I do figure."

Of course she did. A man could die here today, Buckner realized, and the law would look into this little affair if one did. That was what Spence Rigby had understood, and that was why Rigby had ridden on, taking Hatchet with him. If the man who died were Riley Buckner, there would be Pru to testify that the fight had been forced on him, making Sam Tull a murderer. Thus it was that Tull had died. Prudence Lane had to die, too.

Tull broke the silence. "Come out, you yellowbelly. I'll shoot. No anger in his voice, only that cold deadliness. "Come out and make a fight the way a man would."
"Nothing doing, Tull."
"It's getting on to dark. Buckner, I'll smoke you out then. Once I can move from here, I'll touch a match to the house."

Whatever was done must be done before darkness closed down. Tull's threat had made that plain.

Suddenly he cocked an ear, listening hard. He heard a crowing not far away. He heard the rustle beneath a light breeze. But he heard something else, faint with distance, the racking of hoofs, the grind of wagon wheels. Hope ran through him, sharp as a lance. "Pru!" he whispered hoarsely. "Do you hear it? North! Go see who's coming!"

Pirates Blast Braves for the Seventh Time

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Is it the 12 postponements that have Milwaukee's Braves dragging in the National League race? Or is it Pittsburgh?

Idleness because of rain, cold and fog has been a real snafu for Braves' pitching. But those Pirates haven't helped it either.

Pittsburgh beat the fourth-place Braves for the seventh time in nine meetings this season with an 8-3 romp before rain cut their scheduled Memorial Day doubleheader in half. That was enough, however, to break a first-place tie with San Francisco, and the Pirates did it by beating Warren Spahn (2-2) for the second time.

Last season when the Bucs managed to beat the Braves only seven times all year, Spahn was 5-0 against the Pirates.

San Francisco slipped to second place, by a half game, in a split with the Chicago Cubs, winning 5-4 after a 2-1 loss. Cincinnati won the opener at Philadelphia 5-4 in 10 innings, but the last-place Phils then ended their losing streak at seven with a 6-1 victory. St. Louis clobbered Los Angeles 15-3 in the only night game, with Bill White driving in six runs.

In the American League, Baltimore split with Boston, winning 7-5 before a 12-3 defeat and came off with a one-game lead over second-place Cleveland. The Indians swept Chicago 4-1 and 9-4, dropping the White Sox to fourth.

New York defeated Washington 3-2 after a 2-1 loss, and Kansas City took a pair from Detroit, 7-6 in 11 innings and 8-2.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix (3-1), who was winless against Milwaukee for three seasons, made it two in a row this year against the Braves. He had them blanked until the ninth, when Roy Face came on and saved it. Gino Cimoli drove in four runs for the Bucs with a triple, double and single.

San Francisco salvaged the split with an unearned run in the ninth after the Cubs had tied it 4-4 on home runs by Jim Hegan, just back from retirement, and Bob Will. Willie Mays socked a two-run homer and scored the Giants' last three runs. Stu Miller (2-1) was the winner with Seth Morehead (0-3) the loser, both in relief. The Cubs won the opener with Earl Averill driving in both runs.

Two-out singles by Jada Pinson and Gus Bell put away the opener for the Reds and reliever Jim Brosnan (3-0) against the Phils.

Rathmann Winner of Speedway

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jim Rathmann will move to the head of the table tonight at the annual victory dinner for 500-mile race contenders, after 10 years of sitting below the winner.

He may pick up a check for well over $100,000, depending on distribution of special prizes by accessory and petroleum products companies.

Just how much he won, the baby-faced, balding Miami veteran won't know until the dinner. But he does know he won it the hard way in a nerve-wracking duel with Rodger Ward, last year's winner, who finished less than 13 seconds behind.

The Ward-Rathmann rivalry has become a sports classic. Early last season, Ward chased Rathmann to a world's record speed of 170.262 miles an hour on the high-banked Daytona International Speedway.

In a see-saw battle without precedent on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Rathmann pulled ahead Monday about eight miles from the end and finished at a record speed of 138.767 miles an hour. Ward set the old record of 135.857 last year.

Ward had to slacken near the end because of a right front tire so badly worn he feared it would burst. Rathmann had chewed up his right rear tire so badly that Chick Hirschman, his chief mechanic, said it wouldn't have lasted over two more laps.

Ward, starting his 10th straight 500, forced Rathmann to run over 144 miles an hour late in the race — faster than many of the 33 starters had run in qualifications.

Ward and Rathmann made their last pit stop for fuel and tires at the same time, on the 151st lap, three-fourths of the way.

Ward went into the pits leading by a few feet and went out with Rathmann charging at his tail pipes. They swapped the lead five times after that, with Ward having a little edge on straightaway speed and Rathmann a thin advantage on the turns.

Veteran Eddie Russo wore out a tire and crashed into the south-east retaining wall in the only bad accident of the race. He was hospitalized in critical condition.

The worst tragedy of the 44th 500 occurred in the infield, where scaffolding collapsed on a temporary bleacher erected by fans, killing two persons and injuring over 70.

The first seven finishers all broke Ward's year-old record. Officials were uncertain Monday night whether Paul Goldsmith, St. Clair Shores, Mich., or Don Branson, Champaign, Ill., finished third.

Unofficially, Eddie Johnson Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, was fifth; Johnny Thomson, Boyertown, Pa., sixth; rookie Lloyd Ruby, Houston, Tex., seventh; Bob Velth, Oakland, Calif., eighth; Bud Tingstad, Dayton, Ohio, ninth, and Bob Christie, Grants Pass, Ore., 10th.

Chisox Drops Doubleheader to Indians

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

In spring training it was new power and added pitching strength that had the smart money riding on Chicago's defending champion White Sox in the American League pennant race. Now June is blurring out all over and the Sox are bust.

The could-be sluggers aren't. Early Wynn has lost more than he has won. Bob Shaw, 15-4-4; Billy Pierce (3-2) has won once in the last two weeks.

In nine nightmarish days the champs have lost eight of 10, skidding from the top to fourth place.

Cleveland's second-place Indians swept a Memorial Day pair at Chicago, 4-1 and 9-4, and used ex-White Sox Bubba Phillips, Johnny Romano and Barry Latham to do it. That plunked Chicago to fourth, 3 1/2 games behind front-flying Baltimore.

The Orioles lost a game of their lead, but still have a one-game edge over Cleveland after splitting with Boston. Baltimore took the opener 7-5, then lost 12-3. New York took third place, beating Washington 3-2 after losing the first game 2-1. Kansas City belted Detroit twice, 7-6 in 11 innings and 8-2.

In the National League, Pittsburgh broke a first-place tie with San Francisco by whipping Milwaukee 8-3. The second game of the twin bill was rained out. The Giants, a half-game back, salvaged a split with the Chicago Cubs, winning 5-4 after a 2-1 defeat. Cincinnati won at Philadelphia 5-4 in 10 innings, then lost 6-1 as the last place Phils ended their losing streak at seven. St. Louis walloped Los Angeles 15-3 in a night game.

The White Sox left 23 men on base while dropping their sixth in a row at home—where they had won their first 10. They stranded 14 in the first game, three in the seventh inning when winner Jim Perry (4-2) got Al Smith on a pop up. A four-run sixth did it for the Indians against Wynn (2-3).

In the second game the Indians walloped Shaw with six runs in the fourth inning. Latham won his first decision since the pre-season trade for Herb Score with John Briggs' relief.

Rookie Ron Hansen's three-run homer in the fifth inning won the opener for the Orioles. Their other four came in the first inning, two on Gene Woodling's home run off Bill Monbouquette (4-4). Chuck Estrada (4-1) won it with Hoyt Wilhelm's relief help. The last-place Red Sox then beat the Birds for the first time in nine games, scoring seven runs on homers by Haywood Sullivan, Gene Stephens and Gary Geiger.

Arnie Portocarrero (3-1) was the loser; Ted Bowsfield (1-1) won. Yogi Berra's two-run homer in the eighth beat Pete Ramos (2-6) after the Yankees had scored their first run on Roger Maris' 11th homer. Bobby Shantz (1-1) won it in relief. Bob Allison drove in both Washington runs in the opener with a homer, off loser Art Ditmar (2-2), and a single. Chuck Stobbs (2-1) was the winner with relief help from Tex Clevenger.

The Tigers blew a 6-0 lead in the opener, won by the A's on Hank Foiles' two-out pinch single in the 11th off reliever Bob Bruce (0-1). Bud Daley (6-2) won it, spanning seven in four innings of shutout relief. In the second game, Whitey Herzog brought the elstad, Dayton, Ohio, ninth, and Bob Christie, Grants Pass, Ore., 10th.

Cards Ready to Revive Run Bank

By CHARLES MHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals were ready today to revive an old idea and organize a baseball "run bank."

It works like this: When you score a ton of runs—as the Cards did Monday night when they clobbered Los Angeles 15-3—you get to put the ones you don't need in reserve for use during periods when the price of a base hit gets above you means.

The Cardinals would not have to go to the bank much at home, where they've won 15 of their first 21 games this season. But the record suggests they might find it a handy device on the road, where they had won only 2 of 17 until Monday night.

Ernie Broglio, who hadn't started in more than a month, threw a four-hitter at the Dodgers and looked so good that Manager Billy Herman announced he'd probably promote him to a regular starting job.

About the avalanche of scoring, Herman said: "The way we're going now, with a lot of young guys in the lineup, we're certainly not going to score like that many times. But we'll get our share."

"You know guys like (Ken) Boyer, (Bill) White and (Clyde) Cunningham are going to hit."

White hit his fourth and fifth homers Monday night, driving in four runs with them and two more with a double. Cunningham drove in
